Osbournes to host video music awards

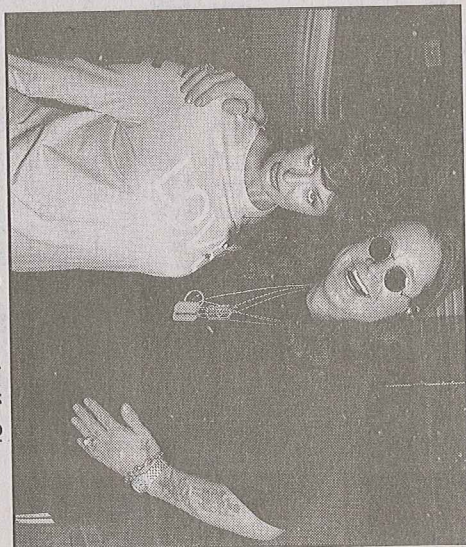

EXCLUSIVE

PETER HOLMES

BEFUDDLED rocker Ozzy Osbourne and his manager wife, Sharon, will host MTV Australia's Video Music Awards in Sydney next March. The Osbournes' celebrity children, Jack and Kelly, and Australian-born nanny, Melinda, will travel with the pair. "Getting to Australia from Pom-land is like a mission to the moon, but we're going to have some fun, even if there are too many... awards shows today," Ozzy told The Sunday Telegraph from Italy. Osbourne, singer with veteran

British heavy metal band Black Sabbath, was introduced to a new generation of music fans in 2001 when his family agreed to appear in the US MTV fly-on-the-wall documentary series, The Osbournes. Their dogs, known to relieve themselves inside the family mansion, also gained a cult following. After three years, The Osbournes has concluded, leaving the family to go about their business in private. "It gets tiring when you have a crew filming everything between 7am and 2am," Ozzy said. "Now I can walk around the house picking up the dog poo in peace." However, Sharon, whose eponymous US talk show was cancelled recently after she posed a vulgar, sheep-related question to a New Zealand guest, said: "Actually, I quite miss The Osbournes, because when we did the show we were all together, and now we're split up: Kelly is in Canada doing a TV show, and Jack's off around the world climbing mountains for another program. I miss them terribly." Despite hicups, involving infidelity and an attempted murder, Ozzy and Sharon remain married after 23 years. "The bottom line is we love each other," Sharon said. "I don't think any couple can be good together without having a good fight. When you don't fight you know the passion is gone."

Ozzy's secret son?

► It's been alleged Ozzy Osbourne has a secret love child. New York dominatrix Sharon Lutz, 38, claims the rocker and reality TV star is the father of her six-year-old son, also named Ozzy, following a fling at a party in 1996.

According to Sharon, who has three children with different fathers, little Ozzy is the spitting image of the Prince Of Darkness.

Ozzy is devastated by the accusations and says in a statement, "The most precious thing I have in my life is my marriage and my children and now someone is trying to destroy the harmony."

It seems highly unlikely the celeb is the father of Sharon's child - who is reportedly being raised in a cockroach-infested New York apartment and has a severe speech impediment. The devoted family man claims he had a vasectomy 17 years ago and has agreed to take a paternity test.
