

Ozzy girl gets a dressing down

BRUMMIE rocker Ozzy Osbourne is back to his usual self in a new series of The Osbournes - this time branding daughter Kelly a "***** trollop".

The Aston-born heavy metal star slammed Kelly's dress sense, saying she was "walking round with her knockers hanging out".

Ozzy, aged 55, who is still wearing a neck support as he recovers from his quadbike crash, lets fly in a new episode of the fly-on-the-wall show on the MTV music channel.

The star, famed for his drug fuelled, bat eating past, told his daughter: "If you are going out you really should wear something more appropriate."

"There are weird people around," Ozzy added.

But Kelly, aged 19, snapped back: "Do you want me to wear a nun's outfit?"

Then she stormed out of the room after telling Ozzy: "I am leaving Dad, because I really, really cannot take this right now."

"If you do not have anything nice to say to me, don't say anything."

Ozzy yelled after her: "I am saying something nice - because you look like a ***** trollop walking round like that."

Ridiculous

Ozzy - who shuffles around his Beverley Hills mansion in black T-shirts and tracksuit bottoms - moaned to wife Sharon: "It's ***** ridiculous."

"Why don't you just buy her a pair of drawers and let her walk around in those?"

Ozzy's off the danger list

ROCK star Ozzy Osbourne has been moved out of intensive care - two weeks after a 600lb quad bike fell on him.

The world's most famous Brummie was on a ventilator after cracking a vertebra in his neck and breaking eight ribs in the crash on his Buckinghamshire estate.

The self-styled 'Prince of Darkness' was taken to Wexham Park Hospital in Slough where he underwent emergency surgery.

But he is now off the danger list and being transferred to a private clinic to continue his six-month recovery.

The former Black Sabbath frontman scored his first number one single last week with daughter Kelly.

Ozzy tour blow

Ozzy Osbourne has been forced to postpone his UK shows for the second time.

The Birmingham-born rocker had been due to play the NEC on October 31 and November 1. He has pulled out of the gigs due to the adverse side effects of medication he was taking to control a tremor which may be due to Parkinson's Disease.
