

OZZY:

My sex life's going up and down and up and down and up and down

HELLRAISER Ozzy Osbourne has revealed he still likes to rock 'n' roll—in the BEDROOM.

But he's confessed that while he's still up for sex at 60 he can't, ahem, bring things to a satisfactory conclusion.

And he blames anti-depressants he takes since quitting booze and drugs for wrecking his love life with wife Sharon.

Ozzy admitted: "I end up pumping away on top of Sharon like a road drill all night, with nothing happening."

He even tried wonder drug Viagra to spice things up with the 56-year-old America's Got Talent judge. But that didn't do the trick either. "By the time it kicked in, Sharon was fast asleep," he sighed.

The bonkers ex-Black Sabbath frontman also reveals in his autobiography I Am Ozzy—published this week—that he decided to kick his wild ways after chucking a TV out of a hotel window and seeing a video of himself sozzled at daughter Kelly's birthday party.

● I Am Ozzy, published by Little, Brown, is out now priced £20.
